Note, That the Peers being Knights of the Garter, of the Thiſtle, and of the Bath, wore the Collars of the ſaid Orders.

Their Majeſties, upon their Entrance into the Church, were received by the Prebendaries and Choir ſinging an Anthem, and having ſeated themſelves, the Recognition and Oblations were made, and after the Litany read by the Biſhops of Glouceſter and Briſtol, and the firſt Part of the Communion Service, the Biſhop of Oxford preached the Sermon, and then His Majeſty ſubſcribed the Declation, and took the Coronation Oath, and was anointed by the Archbiſhop upon the Crown of the Head, the Breaſt and Palms of his Hands, and then preſented with the Spurs, and girt with the Sword, which was offered and afterwards redeemed by the Earl of Huntington, and was then inveſted with the Armills and with the Imperial Pall, and the Orb with the Croſs was alſo preſented, and the Ring was put upon the fourth Finger of His Majeſty's Right Hand by the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, who then delivered the Scepter with the Croſs, and the Rod with the Dove, and being aſſiſted with ſeveral Biſhops, put the Crown reverently upon his Majeſty's Head, at which Sight all the Spectators repeated their loud Shouts, the Trumpets ſounded, and upon a Signal given, the great Guns in the Park and in the Tower were ſhot off.

All the Peers then put on their Coronets, the Biſhops their Caps, the repreſenting Dukes of Aquitain and Normandy their Hats, the Knight of the Garter, and thoſe of the Bath their Caps with Plumes of Feathers, and the Kings of Arms their Coronets.

The Noiſe ceaſing, the Archbiſhop proceeded with the Divine Offices, and after he had delivered the Bible to His Majeſty, and ſolemnly read the Benedictions, His Majeſty was pleaſed to kiſs the Archbiſhops and Biſhops as they kneeled before him one after another. Then Te Deum being ſung, His Majeſty was lifted into his Throne, where all the Peers did their Homages, during which Time Medals of Gold were given to the Peers and Peereſſes, and Medals of Silver thrown among the People, which latter was alſo done in the Return of the Proceſſion to Weſtminſter-Hall. Theſe Solemnities being finiſhed, Her Majeſty, ſupported by the Biſhops of London and Wincheſter, went to the Steps of the Altar, and being anointed with the Holy Oyl on the Head and Breaſt, and receiving the Ring, the Archbiſhop reverently ſet the Crown upon Her Majeſty's Head, whereupon the three Princeſſes and the Peereſſes put on their Coronets, and Her Majeſty having received the Scepter with the Croſs and the Ivory Rod with the Dove, was conducted to her Throne.

Then their Majeſties having made their ſecond Oblations, received the Holy Communion, and the Prayers being ended, went into St. Edward's Chapel, where His Majeſty was arrayed in Robes of Purple Velvet, and having received the Crown of State, and Her Majeſty the like Crown, the Return was made to Weſtminſter-Hall in the Method of the former Proceſſion, ſave that the Peers who carried any of the Regalia, which had been been left behind in St. Edward's Chapel, the Scepter with the Croſs, and the Orb then in His Majeſty's Hands, and the Scepter with the Croſs and the Ivory Rod then in Her Majeſty's Hands, went now in their
